CEOs, senior executives, investors, business owners, inventors, and injured individuals hire Mazin Sbaiti for their most complex matters—when they need a trial lawyer who can combine a fundamental understanding of complex issues with courtroom savvy, aggressive advocacy, a highly attuned legal intuition, and powerful legal strategy.

Experience

Mr. Sbaiti has been retained by plaintiffs and defendants at all phases of a case from a matter's inception, to replacing or joining existing counsel as trial counsel, to serving as appellate counsel after a client has won or lost at trial with another law firm. Many of Mr. Sbaiti's clients find him through other attorneys — often from former opposing counsel. Clients frequently cite Mr. Sbaiti's demonstrated record of accomplishment, winning on behalf of plaintiffs and defendants. Mr. Sbaiti has successfully tried and litigated hundreds of matters in state and federal courts and through private arbitration worldwide. He has done so successfully over and over again in some of the most difficult factual arenas and in a variety of legal settings, including complex business transactions, securities, patent, complex financial instruments, First-Amendment, trade secret, business tort, construction, criminal, employment, pharmaceutical mass torts, Government Whistleblowers [False Claims Act], intellectual property, class actions, and catastrophic injury matters. Mr. Sbaiti has also represented clients in government investigations conducted by the DOJ, SEC and/or FDA.
